

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus in which an arbiter links to a processor having a flexible architecture, and the processor connects to a device through a point to point bus.